GREAT EVENT AT COLONIAL

Twenty-Nine Graduates Receive Diplomas and High Honors for Year.

MISS ANNE CHESTERMAN WOODFIN.

Brilliantly lighted and crowded by friends and relatives of the graduating class and students of Woman's College, Colonial Theatre last night witnessed the crowning event in college life of a throng of happy and graceful young college graduates.

The stage was piled high with flowers sent by friends as a tribute to the girls about to throw off the labors and pleasures of school life and enter upon the life outside of scholastic walls.

The senior class of 1908 numbers twenty-nine members, with Miss Mary Warren May, B. A., as its president; Miss Lucy Smith, B. A., vice-president; Miss Mary Gibson Hunter, B. A., secretary, and Miss Eva Virginia Acker, M. A., treasurer. Class members are: Miss Anne Chesterman Woodfin, M. A., B. M.; Miss Ruth Nash Jarratt, B. A.; Miss Annie Louise Prince, B. A.; Miss Helen Johnston Stone, B. A.; B. M.; Misses Mary Virginia Atwell, Mary Louise Carter, Ethel O. Chowning, McPhail, Bessie M. DuVal, Helen G. Gregory, Ruth Gwaltney, Dorothy S. Hart, Bessie O. Hutchinson, Jessie G. Lipscomb, May Lettie, Norma M. Meador, Audrey B. Stout, Mary L. Vaden, Mabel C. Weyland and Carrie Williamson—all bachelors of letters. Bachelors of other degrees are: Misses Beulah B. Lynch, Nina R. David, Nellie B. Welton and Elsie M. Vest.

Address by Governor Montague.

On the stage of the Colonial Theatre, where the commencement exercises were held, the Rev. Dr. James Nelson, former Governor Montague and Dr. former Governor of the Woman's College, were seated. After the opening prayer Dr. Nelson introduced Governor Montague, who made the address of the evening, complimenting Dr. Nelson as the head of Woman's College on the success of his educational work, and the students and graduates of the college on the exceptional advantages they had enjoyed and the exceptional opportunities offered them in future of becoming factors in a sadder, purer and higher public and private life, which they might, in its best sense, control. The address was listened to with the closest attention and frequent outbursts of applause.

Then came the bestowal of diplomas in the schools of English, English pedagogy and literature by Dr. M. A. Martin, who also awarded certificates of proficiency in the schools of art and song.

The Rev. Dr. Robert W. Forsyth, rector of St. Paul's Church, presented to Miss Hammett the election medal. The writer's medal, given by a member of the board of trustees, the Hon. John Garland Pollard, was conferred upon Miss Chester Woodfin by the Rev. Dr. Stone, of Immanuel Baptist Church.

Kind Words for Graduates.

Miss Laura Virginia Nelson, granddaughter of President Nelson, of the College, won the scholarship medal and the essayist's medal went to Miss Margaret Estella James, daughter of the Rev. Dr. W. C. James, of Grove Avenue Baptist Church.

Miss Carrie Spivey rendered some beautiful musical selections during the delivery of flowers and medals.

Medal to Miss Woodfin.

Miss Anne Chesterman Woodfin, who received her B. A. degree and the degree as a graduate of music last night, received also the writer's medal, a very high honor, awarded in a competitive contest to the student writing the best of a series of essays on the character sketch, a story and an abstract essay.

She was the valedictorian of the class of 1908 and her valedictory, delivered by her on class day, follows: "We stand to-day on the threshold of life, triumphant in the feeling that our past efforts have at last been crowned with success. Through it all we have had that ever helpful friend, hope, an inspiring dream, true, loyal friends have urged us higher with a pleasant smile or a cheering word. Our faculty and beloved president have not only instilled into our hearts noble ideals and high purposes, but always in the spirit of gentleness and patience have assisted us in striving for these ideals. It is with feelings of sadness that we bid these dear friends farewell. Within a few days we shall separate, each to pursue her own destiny, to meet life's real conflicts, for life will not be an empty dream. May the lessons, the truths learned within these classic walls inspire us to walk pure and noble through the vicissitudes of life.

"Often in the future, we shall turn back the pages of memory and live over in our dreams the days we have spent so happily together—one by one will rise before us the faces of those who were dear to us in college days, and as small picture to ourselves the nooks and corners in which we loved to linger.

"Dear fellow students, our thoughts will ever dwell on the sympathetic and appreciative affection which you have so cheerfully displayed to us, and which has been our inspiration through our association with you. When we think of the parting, a shadow falls across our happiness and grief mingles with our joy. May the future bring you manifold blessings and may your lives be crowned with success.

"Classmates, when first we banded ourselves together, it was with hope and enthusiasm; but, ah! scarcely did we begin to realize the magnitude of the task before us. We have passed through trials and hardships, but what aches these if the goal be won? From the beginning we have seemed bound to each other by an invisible tie, and these difficulties have served only to strengthen the bond of friendship. Sometimes we have become disheartened and discouraged almost to the point of giving up, but we are here to-day with all our obstacles surmounted, all difficulties overcome.

"It is not joy that is uppermost in our hearts, nor is it pride, but a solemn realization that never again will the class of 1908 present unbroken ranks. But the heart that has truly loved never forgets," and the friendship will remain firm and true, though the friends be parted never to meet again.

"As we are about to receive those rewards for which we have labored so long, let us remember that this is only the beginning. Philosophers tell us that life means change, and true life means progress toward the realization of some noble purpose. Though our spheres be limited, we have within us the power of uplifting or degrading humanity, for no man liveth unto himself. Let us ever strive to be noble women leading those around us to a higher, fuller life.

"Lives of great men all remain us. We can make our lives sublime; And, departing, leave behind us Footprints on the sands of time."

Miss May Entenhorst, class president, delivered the address.

One of the most enjoyable events connected with the commencement exercises of Woman's College took place Monday evening at Guth's, when Miss Warren May, president of the graduating class, entertained the members of it, with Professor and Mrs. M. A. Martin as chaperones.

Toward the close of the evening, Miss May presented Professor Martin, on behalf of the class, the class pin, designed to serve as a souvenir.

The department showed the largest enrollment for years, and an excellent standard of organization.

After some very interesting introductory remarks by the president of the college, the Rev. James Nelson, D. D., of Jackson Davis, of Columbia University, delivered the address.

Former State Senator William E. Bibb, of Louisa, is in the city on business, and is stopping at Murphy's.

Hon. George C. Bland, a prominent member of King and Queen counties, who was several times a member of the House of Delegates from his district, is at Murphy's, being a member of the Federal grand jury which convened here yesterday to consider the rebate case.

Mr. Bland is a strong advocate of the primary plan of nominating candidates for office by the Democratic party, and declares that his county delegation will vote at the Roanoke convention. He will probably be in the city for the remainder of the week, as the deliberations of the grand jury promise to be quite extended.

Democrats of prominence, who come to the city now and then from different sections of the State, hear out in their forecasts of the Roanoke convention work the prediction made by The Times-Dispatch on Monday morning that Senator Daniel will be one of the "big four" to the national convention at Denver next month, and that there will very probably be no instructions. Within the past few days a good deal of missionary work along this line has been done by the delegates, and the eastern convention of the State, and it is said that it has not been without success. Indications are now pointing strongly to a very harmonious gathering at Roanoke, and it does not appear that any acrimonious discussions or spectacular cross-firing

SETS APART FUNDS FOR YEAR'S WORK

Petersburg Council Passes Ordinance Making Appropriations for the Year.

OTHER THINGS YET TO COME

Business Men Leave for Rate Hearing in North Carolina.

Cutting Scrap.

Times-Dispatch Bureau.

Petersburg, Va., June 2.—The passage of the annual appropriation ordinance, presented by Chairman N. T. Patterson, of the Finance Committee, and carrying a total of $25,530.11 for all departments of the city government for the fiscal year beginning July 1st next, was the most important business transacted by the Council at its regular monthly meeting this evening. This does not include the appropriations for remodeling the city jail, erecting the new public school building at Jefferson and Wythe Street, and the balance for sewer, sidewalk and road-way improvements, all of which will aggregate about $65,000.

The tax ordinance recommended by the Finance Committee and continuing the rate of taxation at $1.10 per $100, was also passed. The committee's request for further time for consideration of a $5,000 appropriation requested by the Board of Public School Commissioners for a new high school building, was granted. Reports from the City Treasurer and City Auditor for the past month showed receipts aggregating $26,530.84; expenditures, $25,530.32; cash balance, $70,885.84.

C. B. Walsh's resolution, accepting the bid of G. B. Keller, of Petersburg, for the brick and wood work, and the Van Dorn Company, of Cleveland, Ohio, for steel and iron work in remodeling the jail, was adopted. A communication from Mayor Jones recommending the passing of an ordinance requiring special precautions against fire in moving picture shows was referred to the Public Property Committee.

The Council adjourned to meet June 22d in special session to wind up the business of the fiscal year, closing June 30th.

To the Rate Hearing.

Secretary Edwin L. Quarles, of the Chamber of Commerce, and Messrs. Charles Hall Davis and Paul Pettit, of the law firm of Davis & Pettit, counsel for the Virginia cities, which are represented in the important suit brought by the North Carolina Corporation Commission before the Interstate Commerce Commission against Norfolk and Western Railway Company and certain connecting lines, alleging unjust discrimination in freight rates from the West to North Carolina, as compared with rates from the same points to Virginia cities, will leave to-morrow morning for Winston-Salem, N. C., where the hearing of evidence, which was begun in March, will be resumed on Thursday.

Cutting Scrap.

A cutting scrape occurred in Ettrick last night when a policeman while attempting to arrest C. E. Anderson, of that place, for drunkenness, summoned four men to assist him, one of whom, Neal Fuller, of Ettrick, was badly cut in the arm by Anderson.

Chief of Police Randall's report for the month of May contains a total of 31 arrests, 41 of which were for drunkenness and 38 for violations of city ordinances.

Miss Meredith W. Nelms, daughter of Mr. Meredith W. Nelms and Mr. John H. Brown, a well known young employee of the Atlantic Coast Line Railway Company, left for the same place for Bluefield, W. Va., where they were married at 9 o'clock to-night at the residence of the groom's mother, Mrs. John P. Brown, and Mrs. Brown will reside in Petersburg.

Davis Essay Prizes Awarded.

The prizes for the essays on the subject of "The Life and Character of Jefferson Davis," offered by the Petersburg Chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy, to scholars of the public schools, were awarded to Arthur James, of the High School; Miss Anne Chapman, of Anderson School, and Miss Pearl Mann, of Anderson School. The cooking prize at the High School was awarded to Mrs. Emily Gilliam.

Heard and Seen in Public Places

A prominent Southwest Virginia Democrat was in the city last night, and when asked concerning the outlook for the governorship in his end of the State, declared very emphatically that Hon. Henry C. Stuart, of Russell, was not only the favorite, but would sweep the mountains from Bristol to Roanoke in a storm. He stoutly claimed that Mr. Stuart would carry every county, and that he would get 90 per cent, if not more, of the Democratic votes cast in the Ninth Congressional District.

"There is every reason why Mr. Stuart should be strong with us," said "He has been a loyal and consistent Democrat, and in no emergency has he ever failed to show his colors or to fight for the principles of his party. He served for many years on the State Executive Committee, and has between leaders will take place. There may be some little "scrapping" over the details of the platform and concerning proposed amendments to the primary plan, but all this is liable to take place, the committee on resolutions rather than before the main body. The friends of Senator Daniel in the various sections of the State will insist strongly that he be one of the delegates at-large, and there is no bare prospect that he will fall of election.

always contributed largely of his time and means to the cause of those put forward to lead the Democratic cause.

"How about the claim that Smyth county will probably line up against Mr. Stuart?" was asked.

"Do you think they will be able to beat him in Russell, his home county?" he inquired by way of reply.

"Well," he continued, after a moment's pause, "there is about as much prospect of one of these counties going against him as the other.

"No, there is nothing for Mr. Stuart to fear in our section.

"Our people know him and love him, and will delight to support him for the great office of Governor, which they believe he will dignify with a clean, high, businesslike administration."

Senator Thomas S. Martin and Congressman H. D. Flood were in the city yesterday on their way home from Washington, where their congressional duties have kept them at the wheel since last winter.

Senator Martin stopped at Murphy's and Mr. Flood at the Westmoreland Club. They both left the city last night.

Judge Edgar E. Montague, of Hampton, was at Murphy's last night, and was warmly greeted by a number of his political friends. He made a remarkable run in the four-cornered fight for Judge of the Eleventh Circuit to succeed Judge Blackstone, who was removed by the Legislature, and though he finally lost out to Judge Clarence Robinson, of Newport News, his friends were proud of the showing he made.

Judge Montague is a candidate for elector from the First Congressional District this fall, and from present indications he will win the honor without serious opposition. He is at present in the city on business.
